Mansfield, TX – What do you do when you cannot find the book you want in the bookstore because it does not exist? Well, if you are six-year-old Sami FitzGerald, you enlist the help of your mother and create it...leading to ONE MILLION children attacking Fish Sticks with crayons instead of forks!

Sami FitzGerald has always lived in gratitude, giving of herself and helping others. So it was no surprise to her mother when in early 2007; Sami requested a gratitude workbook much like the ones her parents use. What was a surprise was when their search of the internet and bookstores yielded no results. Sami responded by telling her mother that they could just create the book because "I'm sure other kids would want one too!" she said. And hence, "Fish Sticks, Books and Blue Jeans - Teaching kids to be thankful for everything (yes, even fish sticks) everyday!" was born!

Sami's goal with this easy-to-use workbook is for ONE MILLION children to learn how to appreciate the blessings in their lives, to be thankful and to learn how to live in gratitude through the fun and creative exercises found within "Fish Sticks, Books and Blue Jeans."

".....Your book has shown me that some of the greatest lessons in life are even simpler than I had thought....I cannot wait to see what you can teach me when you reach the wise old age of seven." Bill Bartmann, Billionaire Secrets To Success.

"Sami FitzGerald is an absolute inspiration and joy. Her book, "Fish Sticks, Books and Blue Jeans" is a delightful creation, a must have, for children of all ages....Thank YOU Sami!" Debbi Chambers, www.faith-creations.com.

"Fish Sticks, Books and Blue Jeans - Teaching kids to be thankful for everything (yes, even fish sticks) everyday!" will be released in early December for kids all over the world. Bring your crayons and dig in!
